

FOIA Request No. EPA-R2-2015-002063

Hi Ms. Bernard-Rance,

I went through the entire RCRA file for Cycle Chem in Elizabeth, NJ, and to my surprise, we do not have much in the way of documents when I searched the time period from 2005 to the present. I uploaded all the records that I located for this time period. I uploaded information regarding the hazardous waste manifest forms; Consent Agreement and Final Order, and Complaint, Compliance Order and Opportunity for Hearing. From reading your request again, this type of information that I am sending to you may not be what you really need. I also checked with the RCRA Project Manager who is assigned to work with this site, and I showed him your request, and he told that that he has no site remediation documents on Cycle Chem. I am wondering, if perhaps the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection would have more of the recent information that you are seeking.

Hope this little information of what I discussed helps you.

RE: Unmanifested Waste Report

To Whom It May Concern:

On 2/2/2012 Cycle Chem, Inc. accepted 290 kg of Hazardous waste, solid, n.o.s. from Matt Brewing Co. Inc, Utica, NY (EPA ID# NYR000182329). This material is profiled and approved for acceptance at Cycle Chem, Inc. A discrepancy was discovered during waste analysis. During our QA/QC process Cycle Chem determined that the waste lead paint chips with PCBs equalling 202 ppm. The shipping description for this material is RQ, Polychlorinated biphenyls, solid, 9, UN3432, II (D008).

Listed below is the pertinent information:

(a). EPA ID No., name and address of the facility:

(f). Explanation of occurrence:

Based on generator knowledge this material was considered to be non-TSCA. During our QA/QC process Cycle Chem determined that the waste lead paint chips with PCBs equalling 202 ppm .

(g). Disposition:

The waste remains at Cycle Chem until proper authorization is obtained by the generator and/or the alternate disposal facility. Once approved for shipment, a uniform hazardous waste manifest will be used to transport the material to the generator or the alternate facility.

The generator was notified of the discrepancy.

Dear Mr. Steinburg:

This is an "Unmanifested Waste Report" filed in accordance with 40 CFR 761.211. Safety-Kleen Systems, Inc. has identified a load of used oil contaminated with significant concentrations of Polychlorinated Biphenyls (PCBs). A self disclosure report has been submitted to EPA Region I (New England).

On April 30, 2009, a load of used oil arrived at the Safety-Kleen Oil Recovery Facility located at 60 Katherine Street, Buffalo, NY 14210 (EPA # NYD980593842). This material was shipped from the Safety-Kleen Branch located at 23 West Second Street, Barre, Vermont 05641 (EPA # VTD000791699) on trailer # 21194. A PCB concentration of 8.2 mg/Kg AROCLOR 1260 (as received basis) was detected. The Safety-Kleen Waste Tracking Document (No. 1185139) that accompanied the load, indicated that the total volume on the trailer was 5,832 gallons.

This shipment was not manifested because oil is a non-hazardous waste and the transporter was not aware that this load contained used oil contaminated with significant concentrations of PCBs.

SAFETY-KLEEN SYSTEMS, INC.

60 KATHERINE STREET BUFFALO, NY 14210

Following is a chronology of the events describing the shipment:

- April 30, 2009 A load of material arrived at the Safety-Kleen Buffalo Oil Recovery Facility from the Safety-Kleen Barre, Vermont branch and was logged in on Receiver No. R-95191. A sample was pulled from the trailer and taken to the on-site laboratory for analysis. Screening PCB analysis (Tier I) revealed the material to have a PCB content greater than 2 ppm.
- Prior to unloading, the retain sample from the trailer was re-analyzed using the quantitative (Tier II) method and found to be suspect Hazardous due to PCB content. The sample was found to have a PCB concentration of 8.2 ppm AROCLOR 1260, on an as-received basis. The trailer was then re-sampled and analyzed, yielding a result of 7.9 ppm AROCLOR 1260. The trailer was immediately locked and tagged as suspect hazardous waste.
- The Safety-Kleen Non-Conforming Waste Department was notified of the situation. The Safety-Kleen Barre, Vermont Branch was notified of the problem and immediately began taking steps to identify the source of the contamination.
- May 5, 2009 An independent laboratory (Endyne Inc.) confirmed the presence of PCBs at a concentration >50 ppm in a branch straight truck retain sample. The customer retain samples from pickups that were included in the contaminated load were sent by the SK-Barre, Vermont Branch to the Safety-Kleen Technical Center in East Chicago, Indiana for analysis.
- May 6, 2009 Mark Hans of the NYSDEC was advised by phone that a load of suspect hazardous waste was on-site. He was informed that the trailer was "locked out" and that the laboratory analysis indicated that the material contained 8.2 ppm PCBs. This material was secure and never posed a danger to human health or the environment.
- June 1, 2009 The contaminated material was shipped on trailer # 21194 to an alternate TSDF. Five thousand, eight hundred and thirty-two (5,832) gallons of PCB contaminated oil were shipped on Uniform Hazardous Waste Manifest # 001576223SKS.

NJD002200046

Dear Mr. Meyer:

Pursuant to 40 CFR 262.55(c) Cycle Chem is filing this exception report for hazardous waste returned from Canada.

Six drums of hazardous waste were returned to Cycle Chem on November 07, 2007 by Stablex of Canada {Quebec}. This material was hazardous waste that had been earlier exported to Stablex as part of a larger shipment and subsequently was determined not to be compatible with their process.

As a commercial hazardous waste facility Cycle Chem has placed this material back into inventory for assessment and ultimate disposal at another permitted facility.

RCRA COMPL. BR.

Dear Mr. Meyer:

Pursuant to 40 CFR 262.55(c) Cycle Chem is filing this exception report for hazardous waste returned from Canada.

Three drums of hazardous waste were returned to Cycle Chem on March 17, 2006 by Stablax of Canada {Quebec}. This material was hazardous waste that had been earlier exported to Stablax as part of a larger shipment and subsequently were determined not to be compatible with their process.

As a commercial hazardous waste facility Cycle Chem has placed this material back into inventory for assessment and ultimate disposal at another permitted facility.

Sincerely,

James Butler
Regulatory Compliance Officer
Cycle Chem, Inc.
